STURM COLLEGE OF LAW

The Rocky Mountain Land Use Institute seeks to elevate the law, policy and practice of sustainable development in the West to promote nature-friendly, prosperous and equitable communities.

What do we do?

- Academic training for students
 - Land use law coursework
 - Sustainable Cities Practicum
 - Directed Research
- Professional training for land use practitioners (planners, lawyers, policy experts)
 - Workshops (e.g., Dynamics of the Land Use Case; Land Use Law Short Course)
 - Carver Colloquium: annual debate on a current land use issue (e.g., water supply, local authority to regulate oil and gas development)
 - Annual Land Use Conference
- Special projects
 - Sustainable Community Development Code
 - Metropolitan Greenspace Alliance
