Sustainable Nations’
Tucson Indigenous Adobe Initiative
Culturally Directed Design

Dr. PennElys Droz   pennelys@sustainablenations.org
Indigenous Communities

- Tied to Land, Each Other, Value Systems, and often spiritual practice and cosmology
- Cultures of Responsibility
- Endemic poverty, with much being done to address it
- Profound resilience

“Land-based knowledge, inextricable from community relationship building, creates Indigenous resilience”

-Dr. Patricia McGuire
Culturally determined future-making

People know what they need

Tucson Indigenous Adobe Initiative:

Well-built relationships/
Context of trust

Asking Questions/Offering
Examples from Experience, with Humility
CONNECTING

with peoples’ land, interests, experiences
Intergenerational Outreach

- TIAI Indigenous Knowledge Exchange and Community Feast

Small roundtables
Dialogue
Feast and Party!
And filmmaking
Hands-on and In-class Training and support for community leaders
Doing something Real!
Follow up and Development

- Business/project development with localized, diverse, enriched economy in mind.
- Large scale tribal interest engaged
- Continued relationships and organizing on grassroots scale.
- Engage with external partners (Universities, private funders, local SBDC, etc.).
- Always circling back to the center.