Agriculture is Culture!!

- Highly variable size, scale, and crops
- Historic ties to land
- Who gets to farm?
- Who is farming “in right way” with the Earth?

The challenges of boxes (Conventional vs.
Organic)

Agriculture is shaped by our water infrastructure

Water infrastructure is controlled by the few

Equity talks should provide a point of entry to engage the historic challenges of land-access for farmers of color through innovative methods

- Farmland preservation programs
- Healthy Soils and Soil Investment
 - Urban Agriculture
- Farmworker transition programs
- Food Systems programs

MARIGOLD SOCIETY

The logo is a circular emblem. It features a central marigold flower with multiple layers of petals, rendered in a dark, possibly black or dark purple, color. This central flower is set against a bright yellow background. The entire circular emblem is surrounded by a wreath of dark green leaves, likely representing marigold foliage, which forms a complete circle around the central flower.

Advocacy (Petitioning/Speaking to decision makers)

What is the rural idyll?

Who are America's peasants?

What must be done to re-legitimize small-scale and peasant based agriculture in the United States?

How do we reimagine the countryside,
and whose job is it to do so?
